Feedback

The current site does not meet community needs, and the huge car parks are a very inefficient use of space (especially during the current housing crisis). This redevelopment will both provide much needed housing and offer a more community-focused space than the current eyesore.

New homes

Approve this site, which will provide a substantial number of people with a place to live.

Open space

This plan is a great improvement on the current site, which offers no open spaces at all beyond a grey car park.
