To the planning department

I have looked at some of the plans for the new ideas for restoring old buildings in Camden Market. This will be a really important resource for local schools and visitors who want to understand the history of the area. It is great to see that Camden Market is giving free and discounted tickets to the local community.

The big wheel will attract different people with lots of families. We need something like this in the Market. We can't have everything for tourists.

Thanks
