Subject: Selkirk House, Museum Street, Planning application

I write with reference to planning application 2023/2510/P. A friend has drawn my attention to this proposal and shown me a photo of the proposed building:

I could not believe that something so enormously oversized and out-of-place could be considered in this area of central London, so close to the British Museum. So I went to your website and found the application. The application has zillions of documents and I cannot pretend to have studied them all, but I have seen quite enough to see that it is true. It has 18 floors. I found this photo:

I write to express my strong objection and the sincere hope that this planning application will be turned down before it is too late. It is completely inappropriate by reason of its size. Let them take it away and put it next to the Walkie Talkie and the Cheese Grater, but not begin a process of converting the centre of London into something resembling New York.
