Dear Mr Fowler and members of the Planning Department

I beg you not to accept the current design of this building, firstly because it is even taller than the building it replaces and therefore dominates the entire area. And secondly, because the design pays no attention to the elegant, classical buildings that are close by. The block-like structure of this plan has no redeeming feature.

Design mistakes of the past are now clearly understood to be largely due to a new structure making not fitting with the surrounding buildings. Surely this important site gives Camden's Planning Department an opportunity to ensure that a new building in such a position is one that can be admired.

I regret having to object most strongly to the current plan.

Kind regards

A Taute
