

Dear Planning Team,

I should like to object to the above proposal insofar as it requires the destruction of two plane trees.

They are of considerable age, estimated to be 250 years old, and contribute hugely to the biodiversity of an inner city neighbourhood. Their presence immeasurably enhances the amenity of the area to residents and visitors alike. The destruction of the trees would contravene all current official policy for the preservation of the natural world at both national and local level.

Yours faithfully

Margaret Doyle
