The plant part has now been heightened which will leave the basement room with little or no daylight . The initial light report already listed how bad the light will be affected and the fact that it's now being heightened will mean the room will need artificial lights on at all times of the day ! There's also been no amendments to the balconies facing into bedrooms and gardens . No plans to screen the balconies. Evergreen trees should be planted in the rear courtyard for privacy. No mention has been made to noise from balconies either . Again to reiterate we have single glazed windows . Any conversation on any of the proposed balconies will be clearly heard in our properties. Our windows are 8ft high . On Camden's planning site they say bedrooms or gardens shouldn't be overlooked so I'm very confused as to how all of these plans are ignoring these rules .
