As best as I can determine from the photos provided, I cannot see how the tree is 'asymmetrical'. Surely felling is too drastic an option for this. Why can't the tree be reshaped, trimmed or pruned in some way? It appears to be very healthy as best as I can tell. I object to the felling of this tree as it seems yet again unnecessary destruction of an important asset to the area for environmental, wildlife habitat and other reasons.
