Thankyou for your email with additional information request. Please the below images in response to your questions about the window glass types from the Conservation Officer, with photos of both toughened (tempered) and clear float glass. The purpose is to show that the glass provided in the toughened areas will not appear different to the other clear float glass areas. We gained images from the glass supplier of what would be used, there is no visible difference. This is supported by our online research on the topic.
