Ideal spot for a late night kebab. Service is always good and the food always tastes incredibly fresh. Not the finest dining establishment but always had me coming back for more.

This is my 5th order here over the last month that I moved to London. Hands down the best Lebanese type restaurant I have ever been too! The orders are so quick and really good quality of food. I am a vegetarian and the Halloumi wrap I absolutely dream about when I am not eating! My partner is a massive meat head and orders the mix grill which he is also in love with. Could not recommend this more! And the staff are lovely.

- fantastic eating. fresh preparation. I really enjoyed it. had a delivery that was eating came nicely hot loved the huh chawarama. definitely recommend.

- Average Lebanese joint in the vicinity. We got a home delivery done. While it took quite some time before the parcel was delivered, it wasn't a put off since we were warned about the delay in delivery at the time of ordering. Their portions are quite large. A shawarma a meal is enough for one. Everything we ordered was quite upto the mark for the price and we didn't have any major complaints. Of course we would have liked if the food was delivered hot because it was rather cold. Nevertheless, an average restaurant which you may consider if you are not in the mood to cook at home or have friends coming over.
