Hi Darren,

I hope this message finds you well. I wanted to share some thoughts regarding the entrances at Primrose Hill within the Royal Parks.

1. Park Management: Implementing gates at the entrances could contribute positively to the management of the park by allowing better control of access and creating a more secure environment.
 2. Conservation-Grade Materials: If feasible, using conservation-grade iron materials for the gates, designed in sympathy with the conservation zone and existing fencing, would be ideal to maintain the park's aesthetic appeal.
 3. Proper Installation: For long-lasting functionality, ensuring the gates are properly installed with heavy-duty hinges, locks, and gate wheels is crucial.
 4. Temporary Gates: It might be worth considering the removal of the current temporary stainless steel gates. Their damaged appearance could be seen as detracting from the overall charm of Primrose Hill.

I understand the challenges and considerations involved in making such changes. I'm open to further discussions or providing more details if needed.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Best regards,

Kind Regards,
