Do you have any comments or consider that the proposal is harmful to or does not preserve the character and appearance of the conservation area?

Comment The proposed addition of a dormer- balcony on the front façade will indeed mirror the existing one. However, any excuse that this has an advantage since it makes the front elevation “more balanced and symmetrical” is mistaken. William Willett and his architect, Amos Faulkner, preferred that their houses in the Elsworthy CA to be NOT symmetric, they liked quirky. Françoise Findley for BCAAC
