c) works to any structure or object fixed to the property (or buildings within its curtilage) internally or externally?

- No

d) stripping out of any internal wall, ceiling or floor finishes (e.g. plaster, floorboards)?

- Yes
- No

If the answer to any of these questions is Yes, please provide plans, drawings and photographs sufficient to identify the location, extent and character of the items to be removed. Also include the proposal for their replacement, including any new means of structural support, and state references for the plan(s)/drawing(s).

Originally heated only by electricity, two of the houses have in the past (pre-Listing) had gas boilers fitted. Given the climate emergency, the owners wish to remove these gas installations and to all 5 houses provide lower carbon sources of space and water heating. It is proposed therefore to:

- 1 Install PV panels on the five flat roofs (nos. 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32) in a way which is not visible from the street or nearby gardens by laying the panels both flat and at a low angle.
- 2 Replace the original cold water tanks on the roofs with roof-mounted heat pump units, in a colour similar to the existing water tank enclosures and in the same position, ie set well back from the front and rear elevations.

The existing galvanised steel water tanks are housed in removable timber boxings faced in zinc sheet. The tank and enclosure on house 28 have been removed previously (pre-Listing). There is no longer a regulatory need for cold water storage tanks.

The roofs of the building are generally of timber construction, with joists spanning between party walls. The location of the water tanks however is reinforced by steel and masonry structure, so is capable of taking the load of a heat pump unit without modification to the structural elements of the building.

On each house, the replacement of one piece of roof-top plant with another is considered to not significantly change the roof profile in visual terms, and to be sympathetic to the character of the building.

Please refer to the Design and Access Statement / Heritage Assessment and the drawings.
