Dear Miriam
I have to grovel and apologise for getting the house numbers mixed up, I'm so sorry. I do withdraw my objections and am delighted that you have been able to visit and since confirm that the front wall and pillars will be retained. As you saw, they are worth it!
Kind regards
Francoise

Hi Francoise,

I visited the site earlier this week. It is the property next door which is having lots of work done and has had hoarding up (No13) – there has been no work yet at No 11. I have spoken to them about the existing front boundary wall and pillars, which are very nice, and that will not be changed or meddled with. On this basis, are you happy to withdraw the CAAC's objection?

Thank you.

Kind regards,

Hi Francoise,

I was not aware it has already been built, thank you for highlighting this. There is no visible change I can see on the drawings to the front boundary so I hope there has been no demolition.

Dear Miriam Baptist

2023/0391/P 11 Elsworthy Road

Thank you for the reassurance that the comments/objections from BCAAC have been taken into account and changes made. (It is not possible to judge as there remains a high hoarding around the site despite construction being completed)

You do not mention the front wall, pillar and it is very much hoped that the original which matches the neighbours' will be restored/retained. This is important so that the street boundaries should remain harmonious in the Elsworthy CA.

Kind regards

Francoise Findlay
