Objection from CRASH (Combined Residents' Associations of South Hampstead)

The applicant's agent states in its Design Statement:

"Purpose of French Doors (b) Add to the character of the house ."

CRASH would not argue that the French windows - should they be permitted - won't add to the character of the Victorian house. However, character may be beneficial, but it, just as easily, may be detrimental. In this case the added character would be, in the opinion of CRASH, injurious to the building and the wider setting.
