2024/0293/L	Bella Parker	21/02/2024 14:43:05	INT	The ground floor front window is one of the oldest features of the street from when Colville Court (as it was then known) was a busy street of shops. The window resembles 18th century windows in Covent Garden. It would be tragic to destroy this. And why? If the owners didn't like the historic character of the house why did they buy it?
