Erection of metal frame adjacent to tower for the display of temporary artwork.
JW3 is commissioning artist Leon Fenster to design a temporary artwork for the 8 story tower block adjacent to the JW3 main building (of which JW3 is the freeholder). Leon will create a mural-sized artwork that will be a celebration and exploration of London's Jewish life. The artwork will joyfully collide together the historical and the contemporary, the profound and the frivolous, the mainstream and the fringes. It will use Leon's typical dreamesque style, filled with details and stories to explore. What makes Leon's artworks special is that because they are so rich in meaningful details, viewers make new discoveries and each time they return to the artwork. The contents of the artwork will emerge from a period of research including conversations with people who have particular insights into aspects of the Jewish story in the city.
In addition, a digital version could also be accessible via an app or website. A conveniently placed QR code could direct people to this online version. This digital guide could take the form of either an online interactive graphic, or an Augmented Reality app that allows the user to simply point their phone's camera at the artwork and see information overlaid over the image.
An accompanying guide to the artwork will annotate each element, explaining its meaning and giving some historical context. Copies of this guide will be kept in printed form at the lobby of JW3 for visitors to pickup.
We would like the metal frame to remain beyond the life of this artwork, with a view to future commissions.
