Thank you for informing us of the application to fell this tree. I actually agree with the application.

The tree was perhaps an unwise planting (by the applicants predecessor) and has grown too big for its spot. It is now a problem and will soon be an even bigger problem.

It already prevents sunlight getting to the applicants garden (bad for her and her family and for the other plants!), and it is blocking light to the flat above hers (beneath mine) too. It is blocking the view from our flat already and soon it will block the light to our kitchen and balcony as well.

It needs at very least a severe pruning - halving its height - and I don't know if that would work. Given the speed the tree grows at it would also have to be done repeatedly so I can see why our neighbour has applied to fell the tree.

I support her application.

best wishes,

Juliet
