2024/1274/P	Kate Burge	03/07/2024 21:00:43	COMMNT	In 2024 when climate change is incontrovertibly occurring and the decline in bio diversity is plainly evident there is no justification whatever of eight trees being felled to build a dwelling which will cover what is now a garden. This dwelling plainly falls outside the critically important category of affordable housing and even then there could be no possible justification for the destruction of eight trees and the consequent environmental damage.
2024/1274/P	James Burge	04/07/2024 07:49:39	OBJ	This proposal represents a dangerous precedent of intrusive and aesthetically ill-considered construction in a residential area. It will degrade the aminity of adjoining residents and passers-by alike. It offers no social or civic benefit of any kind: the motivation behind it is nothing but the enrichment of one speculator. In this day and age there are other considerations -- the environment is a major consideration. The proposal to cut down eight trees is the clincher. In short, this proposal has no merit and several demerits.
