| 2024/4953/P | Nick Shaw | 07/12/2024 20:09:44 | COMMNT | As a resident of Jamestown Road, I am concerned about and object to the plans, based on the sheer size and obstructiveness of the new development. The row of houses at the west end of the street already have high buildings opposite them, and there is a tall building that has been constructed on Oval Road at the top of the street. Building an enormous project such as this will condemn the houses to being surrounded by overhanging buildings and will make the street feel like the bottom of a canyon, rather than having the existing normal height of the street running down to the corner. Surely it is possible to build something that doesn't do the maximum damage to the street the way this does? |
