Dear David Fowler,

I don't believe this is your fault, but I hear that the developers at the horrible new ugly and massive building which will overmaster Museum Street have applied to leave all their tenants' rubbish on the pavements, and that they are trying to extend the hours for deliveries/collection enormously, to the detriment of local residents' sleep.

Please can you put a stop to this kind of inching and encroaching upon an already agreed planning decision by recommending against it?

Otherwise why bother being in planning at all? This kind of liberty-taking by developers is ruining the lives of Londoners, and it's time it was stopped in its tracks.

You could do it. Please do!!

Kind regards,

Ruth Richardson
