

Application N	Consultees Name	Recipient Address	Received	Comment	Response
2024/2988/P	Catherine Hannam	19 Elizabeth Mews London NW3 4UH	13/03/2025 18:12:50	COMMNT	In addition to my previous comments, the new plans now also include a terrace. New terraces on the mews have always been rejected - note there are no terraces on that stretch of the mews. A terrace would add additional disruption long term to an already disruptive plan. All issues of overlooking will be increased by having a terrace. The terrace will add potential noise nuisance to a cramped area - the acoustics in the small mews mean any noise is often amplified. May I reiterate that this applicant is not acting in good faith. They have not once consulted with anyone on this tiny road which they could have done at any point. Instead they have 'snuck in' a terrace without bringing any attention of this major change to the attention to planners, clearly hoping to get it through without scrutiny. This is still clearly a money making exercise, not something intended to enhance the mews and the sense of community in any way.
2024/2988/P	Catherine Hannam	19 Elizabeth Mews London NW3 4UH	13/03/2025 18:13:00	COMMNT	In addition to my previous comments, the new plans now also include a terrace. New terraces on the mews have always been rejected - note there are no terraces on that stretch of the mews. A terrace would add additional disruption long term to an already disruptive plan. All issues of overlooking will be increased by having a terrace. The terrace will add potential noise nuisance to a cramped area - the acoustics in the small mews mean any noise is often amplified. May I reiterate that this applicant is not acting in good faith. They have not once consulted with anyone on this tiny road which they could have done at any point. Instead they have 'snuck in' a terrace without bringing any attention of this major change to the attention to planners, clearly hoping to get it through without scrutiny. This is still clearly a money making exercise, not something intended to enhance the mews and the sense of community in any way.