My child attends regularly and absolutely loves it—it's been fantastic for their physical health, confidence, and sense of community. The gym has never been disruptive. On the contrary, it brings positive energy to the area and generates steady footfall, which supports surrounding local businesses. It has been part of the neighbourhood for as long as I've lived in Kentish Town—eight years—and has become a valued and familiar part of the high street. Personally, the gym has played a big role in supporting my mental and physical health. The class schedule is thoughtfully designed—family-friendly while also accommodating people with busy working lives, which is rare and hugely valuable. It's more than just a place to exercise—it's a community hub, a safe and inspiring environment for both adults and children. Losing it would be a real loss for the whole area. I urge the council to support its continued use.
