Biodiversity net gain

Biodiversity net gain is a legal requirement for planning permission introduced on 12 February 2024. All applications are required to either provide detailed information proving there will be a biodiversity increase; or explain why the requirement does not apply to the development.

Find out more about biodiversity net gain, and access digital tools from our partners that can help determine if you are exempt, or produce the biodiversity metric information required.

Do you believe that, if the development is granted permission, the general Biodiversity Gain Condition (as set out in Paragraph 13 of Schedule 7A of the Town and Country Planning Act 1990 (as amended)) would apply?

○ Yes

⊗ No

Biodiversity net gain has been introduced as a general condition for planning permission. As set out in The Environment Act 2021: "grants of planning permission in England [are] to be subject to a condition to secure that the biodiversity gain objective is met". Therefore, in England, all planning permissions are generally subject to biodiversity gain rules, unless they are specifically exempt or out of scope.

If you have stated that the biodiversity net gain requirement does not apply to your application you must provide the reason(s) why, and may also need to supply evidence (especially where you believe the application is eligible for the 'de minimis' exemption).

You can use our partner's free online tool to determine if you are exempt and to produce detailed reasons

Please add all the reasons why biodiversity net gain does not apply and enter a justification for each one
Reason biodiversity net gain does not apply: Development subject to the de minimis exemption (development below the threshold) What best describes the size of your site?: Under 25 square metres Please justify the reason why biodiversity net gain does not apply: Change of windows of existing property Note: Please read the help text for further information why developments may be exempt or not in scope.

As you are aware, Chester Terrace was largely rebuilt behind the façade in the latter half of the twentieth century. It was clear from our site visit today that all of the windows are modern, although in some cases good replicas of the originals. Therefore, there is not an objection in principle to the replacement of the windows as no historic fabric would be lost.

On the rear elevation, the replacement of the windows with 12mm double glazing should be acceptable, provided that they match the existing in terms of materials, frame and glazing bar details. This façade has been substantially altered, and whilst there is uniformity across the group as a whole, it is secondary elevation, which was not planned to be seen as an impressive set piece. Such an approach would be consistent a recent approval at 34 Chester Terrace in 2024 (ref: 2023/5115/L).

The front elevation of the building contributes most to the building's special interest, Regent's Park Conservation Area and the setting of Regent's Park which is a Registered Park and Garden. This partly stems from the uniformity of the façade within the wider terrace. Whilst 12mm double glazing would be a close match to the existing, there would still be discernible differences from the rest of the terrace, such as the depth of the outer, protruding, part of the glazing bar and a possible blueish tinge to the glazing. As the building is Grade I listed, and therefore of the highest importance, 12mm double glazing is discouraged.

Whilst vacuum double glazing is often thinner, due to the appearance of the spacer dots, it is not appropriate for this Grade I listed building.

However, laminate or coated glazing or similar could be installed on the front elevation. Again, the windows would have to match the existing. With reference to your enquiry below, a 4mm or 8-9mm option should be acceptable, provided that it could be fitted in a frame to match the existing.

It was noted that on the upper two floors the front windows are double glazed, with much thicker glazing bars. It is not clear when this occurred, but no record of consent has been found for when this was done. On these levels, the windows should revert back to their original appearance in terms of frame and glazing bar dimensions.

As was advised at the property, the installation of draught proofing strip between the sashes and sash box is not of concern.

Authority Employee/Member

With respect to the Authority, is the applicant and/or agent one of the following:

- (a) a member of staff
- (b) an elected member
- (c) related to a member of staff
- (d) related to an elected member

It is an important principle of decision-making that the process is open and transparent.

For the purposes of this question, "related to" means related, by birth or otherwise, closely enough that a fair-minded and informed observer, having considered the facts, would conclude that there was bias on the part of the decision-maker in the Local Planning Authority.
