Dear Ian

The information I have on the original Occupiers is limited still, and not completely clear about the reasons why it fell out of a D1 use. However I have learned the following:

“It was a needle exchange in the 1990’s and into early 2000’s. Local opposition to the service eventually forced the closure of the needle exchange. It was then used from the early 2000’s till 2008 as the Camden Drug Service’s criminal justice rapid access service. It was then empty for about a year. After this it was then briefly used for the combined Camden Alcohol Service (C&I and CRI) until that was moved to Early Mews in (I think) 2010/2011”

Kind regards

Peter Morris
