

A number line from 0 to 5. The segments between 0 and 1, 1 and 2, 3 and 4, and 4 and 5 are shaded gray, representing the sum of the first four terms of the sequence.

|                                                               |                     |          |
|---------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------|----------|
|                                                               |                     |          |
| A                                                             | Section lines added | 1/10/13  |
| Revisions                                                     |                     |          |
| ProjectWORLDWIDE HOUSE116-134 BAYHAM STREETLONDON |                     |          |
| TitlePROPOSED EXTENSION                                   |                     |          |
| DateJUNE 2013                                             | DrawnCB         | Checked  |
| Scales1:100 @ A1                                          |                     |          |
| Drawing No1103/P02                                        |                     | RevA |