View as Existing

- 6.31 This view conveys the typical character of Camden Lock market with its mixed building stock, its streetscape of cobbles, York stone and granite kerbs, but more noticeable to most, its strong sense of life and commercial activity. A variety of types of building – new and glassy on the left, more sedate stock brickwork on the right – draw the eye toward the rail bridge with its prominent gantries, with the chimneys of buildings beyond visible over the bridge.
- 6.32 Most of what can be seen from here lies in the Regent's Canal Conservation Area. The railway bridge and its hoarding are listed in the CA appraisal as making a positive contribution to the CA.
- 6.33 This is a view of moderate quality, and of moderate sensitivity to change because of the CA.

View as Proposed

- 6.34 Building C1 will be seen beyond the bridge, above and below it, with Building C2 rising above it in the distance. However, the bridge will continue to provide a significant visual stop to the foreground, and the new buildings will not be very prominent from here.
- 6.35 This is a minor to moderate change to the view, of moderate significance. The effect is long-term and neutral.
