Dear Mr Little,

I'm sorry to say but I have another dead tree - this time in my back garden. It is a very old Judas tree which has split into two parts - one half is definitely dead and the other half is nearly dead. We are very sad to lose it and would probably replace it with another Judas or certainly another tree but I think it must come out before it falls down. There is a magnolia which is growing through the dead tree so it shouldn't leave too big a hole.

May I have permission to take out the Judas tree? Do you need to come and see it?

I do hope this is still your responsibility at Camden - if not, could you please redirect this request?

Regards,

Thank you very much. I look forward to hearing from Mr Little.

If Mr Little needs to look at the tree it is in my front garden to the right of the steps to the main door, leaning over the steps down to the basement flat. He does not need access to my house to see the tree and is welcome to come and see it anytime.

Regards,

Ellen Schroder
