We live at 71 Dartmouth Park Road (basement flat) which is in a conservation area. We need to cut a bay tree down as it is damaging our fence. We have had to have three panels replaced. The fence is particularly important as a deterrent and barrier for foxes. We have a huge issue with them and they are overrunning our garden which is a real concern as we have a five month old baby and would like to take her outside. The tree branches are also leaning on the tree and shed next door.

Please advise what we need to do to be able to cut the tree down. We have a well established garden with fruit trees, plants and shrubs and we intend to keep all of this.

Yours faithfully
