Dear

We have a Magnolia tree outside the front of our house in a raised bed, as you will see it is undermining the steps to the house, the wall of the raised bed and the front wall of the house and judging from the cracks in the front of the house, and where the tree is positioned so close to the front of the house possibly causing subsidence. We are aware of the conservation area and the rules that surround trees, but you will see from the damage that something must be done. The tree is also in a fairly bad condition and is far too big for its position.

I would like to have permission for it to be felled as I can see no other option. If this request is approved could I please have the appropriate paperwork to accompany the approval?

I look forward to your reply.

Kind regards

Arthur Petherbridge
