

where this black box is are two brick walls about 8ft high, these will more than shield the dishes from any buildings to the south, dishes will not be able to be seen from lower levels. The only view of the dishes would be from the windows in the picture which are at the Station next door.