Date (DD/MM/YYYY): (Must be pre-application submission)

Details of the pre-application advice received:

Advice received as follows:
Thank you for your enquiry received on the 12th February 2010 and follow up information received on the 16th February 2010, regarding the proposed fitting of new soil pipes to the above property.
The property is not a listed building nor in a conservation area.
I can confirm that the proposed fitting of new soil pipes to the existing building would not require planning permission as these works are regarded as diminimus.
However, if you intend to enclose the pipework within another material I can confirm that planning permission would be required.
The fee for these works would be £295 and all elevations (existing and proposed) where any changes are taking place will need to be included as part of the application. A typical section drawing showing the soil pipe and enclosure at 1:20 would also be required in order for us to see how far the enclosure would project from the existing walls.
