2014/2093/P	Betts	56 alexandra pl	11/05/2014 15:04:28	COMMNT	i am concerned about the noise the new vents will make as i presume they are for the air conditioning fans. is there a noise limit they must conform to? i believe this work has already started/finished as they built a hoarding some time ago to hide the fact they went ahead with the work with/without permission. this company employ builders who do not care about noise nuisance etc see council ref (179 831) they where drilling on sunday and i had to confront them. i would like to have work done if planning successful during office hours not weekends. this work at 55 loudoun rd seems to be going on for ages.(over 6 months) what will the operation times of the fans be? how many are there ?is there any environmental/health factors to consider ie extra dust/ e-colie . it would have been nice if the council or the business had given residents some sort of plan of works with time frame so we could of made arrangements.
