To whom it may concern

With reference to the above planning application to change the use of 6, Erskine Rd from commercial to residential. It appears that the owners of this and surrounding properties which includes the Triyoga yoga studio wish to convert the whole area from current commercial use to residential use. Whilst one appreciates the shortage of residential properties in London it seems highly likely that these will enhance the area or provide much needed 'affordable' properties. I am concerned about how the change of use will impact the other commercial properties and in particular Triyoga which I believe provides a valuable recreational facility for the area and brings visitors who spend money with the local shop keepers and businesses. In my opinion retaining a diversity of uses for the Triyoga and other buildings would be of continuing benefit to the local community.

Yours sincerely,
