The planned development is utterly "out of kilter" with its setting, its history and its "locked in" shortcomings in terms of safe, accessible entry/exit.

The most crucial shortcoming is that as a site - with safety both of its denizens and residents as a priority - it has grievous positional defects.

The size & number of the buildings aggravate the difficulties which are inextricable to the area in which they are placed.

The uncertainty of the size & elevation of the planned buildings cause them to be so foreign and misplaced to the selected area as to form an objectionable imposition on the area in which they will be located.

The whole planned area is a gross interference & overwhelming drawback on the future, more tolerable & more fitting plan which time will provide for us residents given sufficient time.
