2014/4678/P	Phil Cowan	Flat One 2 Albert Terrace	20/07/2014 21:26:56	OBJ	Primrose Hill Park is a cherished public space that offers a sanctuary from the world of commerce. People flock to it for this reason among many others. The proposal to erect a statue of Paddington Bear in order to promote a new film is outrageous. This idea is a direct attack on the concept of what a neutral public space was designed for. Commercial interests have choices of "hoardings" to promote their product practically anywhere and ought to be ashamed of themselves for trying to impinge on the few remaining "ad-free zones". Please reject this application and prevent a peaceful place in London being subsumed by a swathe of other companies intent on taking away our park in pursuit of profit.
2014/4678/P	Karen Ross	35a Chalcot Square	21/07/2014 13:45:11	OBJ	This is simply commercial exploitation of the Royal Parks in order to promote a movie. A` similar application to erect a temporary statue of Christ the Redeemer in 2012 was similarly made and rejected. Works involved in erecting a statue of this nature will result in loss of amenity for users of the park. It will also be a target for vandals. The Royal Parks are not intended for commercial promotional stunts of this nature. A Paddington Bear statue would set an unwelcome precedent for others. I would also like to object to the associated planning application made for Primrose Hill.

2014/4678/P	Emily Simon	9 Elsworthy Road	29/07/2014 22:36:26	COMMNT	on the 28th November 2014 Paddington Bear, the film, will open in the UK. In conjunction with that opening, the producers, and/or marketing team have decided to fill London with Paddington Bears. Primrose Hill is a spot loved and used by many people across London. it should not be used for commercialisation, or to sell a product. To allow a marketing gimmick to destroy the serenity, peacefulness and beauty of this well known London landmark would be a disgrace.
2014/4678/P	Simon Wilder	10 Gabrielle Court Lancaster Grove NW3 4EU	20/07/2014 21:34:01	COMMNT	Sounds awful. What has Paddington to do with Primrose Hill? Horrible.
