This project is so much inferior to the last which was I understand supported by over 170 locals and objected to by just a few most of whom dont even truly live opposite The victorians would not be proud of a mismatch and a building taht is not modern, nor a testament to our time - that was not what they are about
On the other hand lets not mess this 2nd opportunity up for those so many locals taht rely upon Ringley for jobs, employment and their rising housing prices in this so before neglected part of south kentish town. When all others had neglected this area Ringley chose to amke it their home - lets not drive them out

best wishes
