Hi - We live right next to the Regent Canalside development and have put up with two years of Contractors hell. I think the planning dept at Camden really need to get their act together. And I would like to meet with planning officers. 1st I was told that Camden is actively perserving office space and then when I said they just gave permission to knock down Tynman House (offices) then was told well not those type of offices, but warehouse space. Well this building is a warehouse with offices???. Could someone call me at the above number because I would like to know

Please continue on extra sheets if you wish what the ever changing policy is???

I only object to this application on the basis that the plan seems to ~~be~~ include a 9 storey building, which I think is too high and would reduce natural light to surrounding buildings.

I am also concerned that this large project would obviously involve major digging in to the ground. I am concerned that the ground's clay could be affected and potentially cause subsidence to adjacent buildings. I hope this has been considered to great lengths as so no neighbouring properties are effected. I would assume this has been considered and planned for.

I am not against development especially from a good use of space. However, I just do not want to see a 'skyscraper' on our street, I think it would not look nice and reduce the natural look of the area. A reasonable build height is something I am not against.

Thank you.
