Dear Mr Thuaire

We wish to register our protest at the Royal Free hospital planning application to build a research centre and a building for other purposes on Hampstead Green. The proposed building is much too large not only for the site on which it is proposed to be built but also for the whole area. It will distinctly impinge on the environment which is unique in London. It will cause traffic jams in an already over crowded road system which will be detrimental not only to commuters but also to those residents living in the area.

We appreciate the facilities available at the Royal Free hospital and the work achieved in the hospital but it would appear that this proposed new building would be better placed in a less congested area. We also question whether the proposed building needs to be so very large and intrusive.

Yours sincerely,

Marjorie and Gerald Don
