I always deplore seeing high buildings blocking the view - I was against ~~the~~ 7 storey building of Royal Free extension at the expense of a lovely garden and place of quiet - (but too late to write)

About a ten storey building will be in line with the top of the hospital - located in a lower place - It is better if the two buildings remain at different levels - It will be too crowded, too close to each other. At the moment, I can see, from my window, 2 separate buildings.

Of course, I wonder where the statue of Michael VERNER ¹⁹⁷⁷ Mater ecclesiae - will find a good relocation? 22 foot high - more than 7 meters
