

Dear Mr Dempsey

Recommend No Archaeological Requirement

Thank you for your recent consultation to English Heritage, Greater London Archaeological Advisory Service (GLAAS), regarding the archaeological interest of this site in relation to the proposed development.

GLAAS provides archaeological advice to boroughs in accordance with the National Planning Policy Framework and GLAAS Charter.

I have carefully studied the Design and Access and Heritage Statement and although the site lies within an area of archaeological interest, the proposed changes to the historic Orangery and garden room are of a small scale and in this instance I do not feel that the archaeological resource would be compromised by these works.

We therefore offer no additional comments on this variation of Condition 3 2014/0693/L.

Please do not hesitate to contact me should you require any further information. This response relates solely to archaeological considerations. If necessary my Historic Buildings and Areas colleagues should be consulted separately regarding statutory matters.

Yours sincerely

Gill

English Heritage is changing into two organisations.

From Spring 2015, we shall become Historic England, a government service championing England's heritage and giving expert, constructive advice, and the English Heritage Trust, a charity caring for the National Heritage Collection of more than 400 historic properties and their collections.
