The realities of a basement toilet :-

① There is a 12" wall between our properties - cracks from vibrations, my home falling down from drilling + excavation. 3 levels of worry start from Basement (to be underground) what about escape to escape wall (to fire) Room above escape (1st floor) 12" wall!

② Noise Disruption, Health + safety, dust, GPM pink plaster dust (I have a breathing mask). Will I get any sleep?

③ Insurance + Compensation - Damage of any kind to my home. Insurance policy to be forthcoming from OWNER, Building construction so they don't go into liquidation they are covered, + Architect.

④ I know people who have had this done + been left with 1" cracks in + outside of their property

Please continue on extra sheets if you wish apart from the drilling, ~~Excavation~~ <sup>Excavation</sup>, vibrations, dust, grime, plaster

total intrusion into my private space. Banging, Noise Disruption of + each day.

My health isn't that good anyway. I just hope it doesn't kill me.

I probably will be unable to park on my little patch (driveway), so will have to park ~~at~~ quite away late at night.
if I can park <sup>on the street</sup> I won't be able to open my <sup>car</sup> door!
No Room.
Danger to my safety. House falling down.

(The selfishness of it all to have a Gym + Cinema <sup>with all this disturbance</sup>)

Just the constant intrusion and the constant noise + banging will probably drive me insane. I hope not.
And all on such a long schedule.

+ PS: Is it true I have a unexploded
WWII Bomb in my bin? please
will it go off with all this disturbance
+ activity.
