Your comments on the planning application

The Sycamore tree which the applicant wishes to aggressively prune is central to the landscaping of the all surrounding properties, providing crucial privacy and beauty to the area. It is especially crucial to privacy given that the Girl Guides International building sits on the opposite side of this tree and has a high volume of people coming and going, staying within the residences whose windows would otherwise look out upon our property as well as many others.

To reduce the height and spread of the crown by up to 2.5 metres would remove the vast majority of the privacy afforded by the tree's foliage and would gravely undermine the tree's majesty. Trimming the roots would also be tampering with tree's wellbeing. This tree should be preserved as it is at costs for the sake of the heritage of the neighborhood and also the value and serenity of the surrounding properties.
