Your comments on the planning application

My flat is directly below the attic that the applicant is applying to convert into an apartment. There is only a thin partition between my flat and the flat next door, and where the proposed staircase would go would create an inaudible amount of noise for my neighbour and myself as the wall is not sufficiently soundproofed for there to be an extra staircase. It is my understanding that all of the tenants and leaseholders in the building are against the work as it would disturb every member of the building, would cause a security risk as people come in and out of the building and would be at odds with the original features of this victorian house and I believe that this is a conservation area. There are also privacy issues as scaffolding would likely have to be erected around the building. Moreover, the space they are intending to convert is directly above my head and so for the duration I would either be incredibly disturbed or would have to be rehoused, which is a clear breach of my tenancy agreement.
