2015/6330/P	John Hay	44 Alma Street London NW5 3DH	23/01/2016 18:50:46	COMMNT	I'm a local resident. We chose to live in this area of London because the mixture of business and residential properties made it feel like a proper community full of variety and life. Since we've moved in though, more and more of the small business premises have been turned into flats - I'm thinking particularly of the large buildings on Perren Street and Anglers Lane. This is another move in the same direction and I'd like to ask you to reconsider it. It will make the area less diverse and more blandly uniform. If the gallery is no longer commercially viable then there should be some other commercial use. But to replace an open, public space that added to the texture of the area with another closed residential door would be to impoverish Kentish Town further.
