The restaurant was built to replace an older café, however its size far exceed the original in contravention of the 1894 LCC Act which stated “No building shall be erected or maintained in any part of the garden other than the buildings now existing therein or such other buildings of similar character as may be requisite in connection with the convenient use and maintenance of the Garden While we can assume that the plans would be to build on the current bin area it is an important point that given the already extended facility no additional physical structural enlargement of the building should take place. |
