2016/1514/P	J H Schickler	Ground floor flat 32 Parliament Hill London NW3 2TN	06/05/2016 11:33:30	NOBJ	We (occupants of bottom flat in the building) have no objection to the proposal. "Overlooking" arguments against the proposal are weak; you can look out of a small window as well as out of a large one. Any lateral intrusion into the privacy of adjoining dwellings can be dealt with by adding a screen to the side (as we were required to do when we put up our ground floor balcony) - or indeed for the affected neighbour doing the same on his property. The houses on either side (in particular no 34) have balconies at several levels, and enlarged fenestration. The proposal represents a change in appearance of the house as it was originally built, but in fact brings it into conformity with the houses either side as they appear currently.
