2016/2486/P	Sharon Reed	2 Torriano Cottages	15/06/2016 10:46:12	COMMNT	These terraces look directly into my bedrooms and the material currently installed does not give privacy, you can see straight through it just as you could the railings erected before. Those railings contravened the planning permission given. The original planning permission allowed for walls 1m high which at least would give a degree of privacy in a situation where the existence of these terraces is already an invasion of my privacy. Because the existing material is organic it will soon decay so it is not an appropriate privacy solution. As well as that it looks very unsightly.
