2016/2892/P	Susanne Kaiser	Flat 5 9 Gloucester Avenue London NW1 7AU	12/07/2016 13:56:26	OBJ	Regents Park road is part of a conservation area and as such should be protected. Apart from this, the research that I have done shows that the religious grounds of this seem to be contentious and as such not even a necessity, thus making it even less understandable to erect unnecessary poles to the detriment of the wider area.

Primrose Hill is a conservation area and it should not be subject to planning applications such as this which will bring down the quality and tone of the area. Having two poles arrested on Gloucester Avenue with wire attached will be an eyesore which will not fit in with the general ambience of the houses and street.2. The religious grounds for erecting an Eruv in North London appear to be contentious and I do not think it right that a small sector of one religious group should be allowed to redefine the area, in which we people of many different faiths live, this way. I would like to add that I do have respect for all different faiths and sympathy for people whose lives are restricted by their religious beliefs but unfortunately with those beliefs comes a certain amount of inconvenience which I don't believe should be borne by the community at large and at a detriment to the local environment.
