2016/2892/P	Madeleine Sharpe	43 belvedere ct 115 lyttelton road N2 0ah N2 0ah	12/08/2016 12:43:58	NOOBJEMP ER	Very much hope apication forceruv will be successful. Will enable elderly disabled and young children to attend the synagogue without breaking any rules of use with wheelchairs etc.
2016/2892/P	Katya dunitz	12 abbey gardens London nw8 9at	14/08/2016 20:36:59	COMMNT	I strongly support this initiative which will personally affect me as a resident of neighbouring Westminster and mother of 3 young children. The impact on my life will be huge as it will enable me to leave the house and enjoy the company of friends and family, play in the local parks with my children and attend celebrations in neighbouring Camden on Friday night and Saturday together with my babies. It will also significantly improve the quality of life of wheelchair bound persons within the community. The proposal will not negatively impact on others - the poles will be virtually invisible once installed, merging with the streetscape as they do in the hundreds of other locations in which similar proposals have been implemented.
2016/2892/P	Aliza	19 Fitzjohns Avenue Flat 1	14/08/2016 19:36:44	SUPPRT	The proposed erection of poles will greatly help a large group within our neighborhood. The quality of life will vastly improve for parents with small children, the elderly and the infirm. These are members of the community who are missing out on social, religious and educational activities because there is no eruv in our area. Similar projects all over the world including north London have drastically assisted the religious community as they quietly go about their business of attending religious services, joining family and friends for dinner or tea, bringing children to play at their friends homes or in the park, visiting the sick in the hospital and so on. ALL of these activities are made either possible or easier by the erection of a couple of poles that enable the carrying of books, footballs and snacks, the pushing of prams and bringing along all the items necessary for babies and toddlers, the pushing wheelchairs of the unwell who may need to bring their medicines to dinner. The elderly and the vision impaired will be able to use their walking sticks and canes to stop by their neighbors for a cup of tea. The poles will not disturb residents and indeed will be barely noticeable unless one is seeking them out. Any person who objects to the project on this basis is hiding other, less politically correct objections. I strongly urge you to support this application. Thank you for your kind and sensitive review of these comments.
2016/2892/P	Susan Philips	21 Abbey Gardens London NW89AS	12/08/2016 12:12:31	SUPPRT	I fully support this. It will not be seen nor bother anyone but will help many in the community. Thank you for your consideration.
2016/2892/P	Elliot Pine	19 Fitzjohn's Ave	12/08/2016 13:05:48	SUPNOT	I strongly support the eruv application as it will do no harm to anyone, and can only be of benefit especially to those who are disabled or with young babies. The poles and wires are wholly unnoticeable.
