Your comments on the planning application and again.....

The first mistake that the agent made was to claim in the D&A statement that this property is not in a conservation area. The second and major mistake was to assume that tilting UPVC windows would be in any acceptable to replace the original timber sliding sash windows. If the owners of this property wish to change the windows and doors, they would be well advised to consider good quality timber replacements with slimline double glazing, made by a company that specialises in conservation work.
